Dear Recruiter,

Thank you for taking the time to consider my application.

As a tech enthusiast and aspiring Software Engineer/ Data Analyst, I am very excited to apply for a position as a part of your company. I believe my keen will to learn and high attainment throughout my years make me a great fit for your work environment. In addition, my strong understanding of coding constructs would lend itself well to the position.

Through prior experiences working in several positions, I have shown great work ethic and flexibility resulting in success throughout it. Alongside this, as specified in my CV I have a range of skills which would lend itself well during my time with you.

Skills

- Having had experience in multiple business positions in several fields
- The ability to understand, manipulate and manage sets of data using programming
- Strong organizational and problem-solving skills
- Adaptability working in a team and self-directed environments

Combined with my interest in the tech field, I am well suited to this program and the work it involves. It will help me to grow my understanding and gain experience in the technology sector. Thank you for your time and consideration of my application.

Feel free to contact me via my email or phone number for further information.

Sincerely,

Bhavik Gilbert
